UNCOLLECTED TAXES FOR THE YEAR 1876

and prepare for the inevitable:

Allowed Delinquent

Tax-Payers.

COMPTROLLER'S OFFICE, NASHVILLE, September 13, 1877. To TRUSTEES-In extending the time in which delinquent tax-payers could pay their taxes for 1876 (acts 1877, chap. 3, p. 6), it was evidently the intention of the legislature that these taxes should be paid before the twentieth day of October, 1877. But if each tax every rate is in access about the partners of the control of th of the revenue collector) to postpone pay-ment until the nineteenth day of October, it to take any notice of it whatever until it was would be impossible for the revenue collector to receive the money on that day and write receipts for the same. It is important, therefore, that you be very active and use every possible effort in making collections from this possible effort in making collections from this ime forward; and I would suggest that you have your accounts in such shape that you will be able to deliver promptly to the sher-iff or constables, on twentieth October, a certified statement of the unpaid taxes for 1876 or be able yourself to distrain personal proper-ty on that day and each succeeding day. Ref-erence is here had to sec. 2, chap. 94, acts 1877; and in this connection attention is called to the fact that nothing is exempt from taxes to the sheriff of such nonresident's or insolvent's county.

Your certified statements will be authority for the officers to levy upon and distrain personal property. It is the duty of the sheriff and constables to return these certified lists to you on twentieth November accounting to you for each separate tax. On the twentieth day of November you will pro-ceed to advertise for sale, to be held twentieth December, all real estate against which any demand for taxes for the year 1876 may exist, care being had not to sell the real estate of any tax-payer who may own sufficient per-sonality, out of which the amount of the taxes can be made. For form and manner of advertisement see acts of 1875, chap. 91, sec. 22, p. 135. Within thirty days after twentieth December, it will be your duty to certify said sale to the circuit court of your county. It would be well for you to have circulars published covering the above points, and to distribute the same in each district of your county, urging at the same time the delinquent tax-payers to come forward and pay their taxes without further delay. This is a very important matter to you. Prompt and energetic action now may relieve you of considerrequired, under the law, to make final settle-ment with this office on or before the fourth Monday in March next, accounting for all taxes due for said year.

Something About the Great Jewish Festival-Expiation for Sins Com-Observance.

This Jewish festival is one of the most rigorously-observed by the Israelites of the present day. The "Day of Atonement" is elebrated on the tenth of the seventh month, Ti-bris corresponding this year with the seventeenth of September. Emphatically termed in the bible the Sabbath of Sabbaths, it imposes upon the communities of Israel the most serious obligations, for not only must they abstain from all worldly occupations, but also from all physical enjoyments. Increased devotional exercises, fervent prayer, a conscientious retirement from the outer world, a rigid self-examination, and an earnest and sincere atonement are to be the characteristics of that day. No food is tasted by the conscientious and pious Israelite from eve to eve, and divine services are held from morn till night expressive of the idea of atonement for sins committed. The institution of the Day of Atonement is founded, according to Jewish philosophy, upon the weakness and power of man—upon the weakness, because man is a human being and is liable to the failings of frail mortality; upon the power, because man is formed in the image of God, partakes in a degree of His divine essence, combines spirit with mat-ter, and is capable of subduing his material yearnings by the strong will of his spirit. The observance of the day exemplifies two essential truths of Judaism: First—Repentance is necessary to every one, because there is no one so good as not at some time to commit sin. Second—God is gracious and forgiving. He desires not the death of the wicked, and pardons the truly repentant sinner if he abandons the evil, without requiring any inercession or demanding a vicarious sacrifice. The day was duly observed in this city yes-

A PENNY NOVEL. Livery-Stable Man, of Helens, Ark., Elopes with a Memphis Widow-

The Gossip of Society.

Among the beautiful, accomplished and elegant ladies of Memphis was a handsome widow, who boarded on Court street, between Third and Fourth. This lady, for such she is, had many admirers, one of whom seemed to be an especial favorite. She was always gay, and in society was animated and enter-taining. Having the entree to the social world, of which she was by birth and family, fortune and education, an accepted member.
The accomplished lady was respected by all, and very generally admired. Last Thursday a week ago the lady left the city for the avowed purpose of returning to her home. Since then vile rumor and malignant gossip have it that this lady is Mrs. Scarpe, a grass-widow, and that she has eloped with Mr. Penny, who resided at Helena, Arkansas, where he used to keep a livery-stable and deal in stock. This is, of course, all wrong, for Mis. Scaipe is respected by all who know her. She has resided in Memphis for some time, and is a member of good society here, numbering among her associates many ladies, several of whom reside or board on Court street. While it is rumored that a well-known Memphian was a party to this escapade, and em-ployed the confidence of Mrs. Scaipe and Mr. Penny, such may not be true. From what is rumored, it is said that Mr. Penny found no congeniality at home, and therefore left for about the same time, it is no reason that she has fled with Mr. Penny. Mrs. Scaipe has a daughter at school in St. Louis, and her trip there may have given rise to the scandal. It is very unjust that she and Mr. Penny should be made the victims of unfortunate circum-stances or the subjects of untrue gossip.

Schenck's Pulmonic Syrup, for the cure of consumption, coughs and colds. The great virtue of this medicine is the system, purifies the blood and thus effects a cure. Schenck's sea weed tonic, for the getic action now may relieve you of considerable annoyance and trouble hereafter. The list of errors and insolvencies must be presented to the county court at its January term, 1878. Hereafter a strict compliance with the requirements of the law in regard to monthly reports and settlements will be required, and the penalty imposed upon collectors for failure or refusal to pay over monthly will be enare free from calomel, and yet more effica cious in restoring a healthy action of the liver. These remedies are a certain cure for consumption, as the pulmonic syrup ripens the matter and purifies the blood. The Mandrake pills act upon the liver, create a healthy bile, and remove all diseases of the liver Monday in October, 1877. See acts 1877, ch. often a cause of consumption. The sea weed tonic gives tone and strength to the stomach, makes a good digestion, and enables the or-gans to form good blood, and thus creates a healthy circulation of healthy blood. The combined action of these medicines, as thus explained, will cure every case of consump-tion, if taken in time, and the use of the medicines persevered in. Dr. Schenck is, professionally, at his principal office, corner Sixth and Arch streets, Pailadelphia, every Monday, where all letters for advice must be Schenck's medicines for sale by
